National Black MBA Association Philadelphia Chapter Entrepreneur Summit at Drexel University

July 1, 2016 from NBMBAA-Philly.org

Philadelphia, PA, June 20, 2016 — The Philadelphia Chapter of the National Black MBA Association (NBMBAA) will host its 2016 Entrepreneur Summit on Saturday, July 9th from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at Drexel University in Philadelphia, PA. A BBQ lunch is included in the ticket price. The Summit will focus on how entrepreneurs can create sustainable growth and longevity for their businesses and increase economic wealth.

Mr. Jesse Tyson, President & CEO of the National Black MBA Association, will travel from Atlanta to join the Entrepreneur Summit and provide access to local African American Business professionals. He will share details about business opportunities tied to National Conference experience in Philadelphia in 2017 for the business and academic community. Also speaking will be Mr. Harold Epps, Director of Commerce-City of Philadelphia and a host of other business professionals in the Greater Philadelphia area.

There will also be free business plan reviews by The Business Center for Entrepreneurship (TBC), in addition to opportunities for approvals of $10,000 in loans on the spot by West Philadelphia Financial Services Institute (WPFSI).

All local entrepreneurs; small business owners; employees; corporate business professionals; graduate and undergraduates students should attend. Drexel students attend for free! Sponsorships and Vendor Booths are available. Please email at info@nbmbaa-philly.org for additional information.
